NEW DEAL MAN HOLDS LEAD IN PENNSYLVANIA

Gulley's Margin in Democratic Senatorial Primary Gains; Roosevelt Total Heavy.

By The Associated Press
PHILADELPHIA, April 24 — Sen. Joseph P. Gulley, down-the-line supporter of the new deal, held a steadily widening lead today for Democratic nomination for senator in Pennsylvania's primary which gave President Roosevelt a heavy test vote.

The President's name was placed on a presidential preference ballot by the Democratic state committee which endorsed him for a third term.

Gulley, who had said his defeat would be interpreted as "repudiation of President Roosevelt and the new deal," never lost his early lead over his chief rival, Walter A. Jones, Pittsburgh Oil man, supported by Democratic State Chairman David L. Lawrence and other leaders.

Holds Good Edge

Unofficial returns from 6,315 of the state's 8,105 districts gave Gulley 323,188.

In the same tabulation, William N. McNair, former mayor of Pittsburgh—who opposed the new deal—polled 41,568.

The count from 4,262 districts gave the President 371,317 votes—the highest received by any candidate in top contests on the Democratic ballot.

Although Mr. Roosevelt's was the only name listed, there were scattered write-in votes for Vice President John N. Garner, James A. Farley and Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

Thomas A. Dewey of New York, running "far ahead" in write-in votes on the Republican presidential preference ballot. No names were filed, but in blank spaces provided, returns from 1,800 districts gave Dewey 7,320.

Pennsylvania's Governor Arthur H. James 1,306. Sen. Robert A. Taft 226. Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg 142 and Frank Gannett seven.

Mr. Roosevelt got 143 of the Republican write-in votes in the 1,753 districts.

G. O. P. Total Larger

Although the Gulley-Jones Democratic scrap was the only lively issue of the campaign, Republicans, with a registration of 2,572,100 to the Democrats' 2,046,129, were polling heavier totals.

Republican organization-backed candidates won by wide margins. Heading the slate, Philadelphia City Chairman Jack Cooke added steadily to his first lead over his chief opponent for Republican nomination for U. S. senator, Albert H. Ladner, Philadelphia attorney.

Unofficial returns from 6,005 of 8,105 districts gave: Cooke 356,592. Ladner 166,110.

A third candidate, John A. Dezenzo, Altoona publisher, trailed with 35,958.

The Republican organization candidates for state positions—treasurer and auditor general—won comparable margins.

Four Fined $403 For Operating Kentucky Club

Mt. Gilead Man Assessed $300 as All Change Pleas; Penalties Resulting from Raid Total $660.

All cases resulting from a police raid on the Kentucky club on South Main street April 8, were closed in municipal court this morning when four men charged with operating a gambling house in connection with the club's activities changed previous pleas of not guilty to pleas of guilty and were ordered to pay fines totaling more than $400.

At the same time Municipal Judge Hazen dismissed a replevin suit in which a Columbus news service company had sought to recover teletype equipment seized in the raid.

Charles England, 42, of Mt. Gilead was fined $300 and costs this morning but $200 of the fine was suspended on provision that he remain out of court in the future. Fines of $25 and costs were given to each of three others arrested in the raid, William Ford, 22, of 871 Cleveland avenue, H. Reed, 53, of 135 Sharpless court and Forest Midham, 21, of near Marion. The costs in each case amounted to $7.10.

Pleas Entered by Attorney

None of the four defendants appeared in the court room this morning, the pleas being entered by Grant E. Mouser Jr., their attorney. Mr. England accompanied Mr. Mouser to city hall and paid the fines in all four cases.

In changing the pleas, Mr. Mouser told Judge Hazen that he and City Solicitor Kenneth A. Robinson "have reached an understanding of which fact I believe the court is aware and on the basis of that understanding we are proceeding to change the pleas." The understanding was reached, court officials said, during a conference in Judge Hazen's office yesterday afternoon. It was reported that the fines were agreed upon as acceptable to all concerned rather than to proceed with jury trials.

In passing the sentences, Judge Hazen said he understood Mr. England was the proprietor of the club and that the other three defendants were employees and that he took this into consideration in determining the fines. He said he also understood that Mr. England had agreed to pay the fines meted out to customers arrested in the raid.

A jury trial of the cases previously had been scheduled for next Tuesday.

To Return Teletype Unit

Immediately after the fines were announced, a motion was filed by Mr. Mouser to dismiss the replevin suit in which the Empire News Service Co. of Columbus had sought a court order to require Police Chief Marks to return Western Union teletype equipment. Mr. Robinson previously had reported that the equipment would be returned to the news service company tomorrow.

Mr. Robinson said he wanted to "make it clear that the machine given about 20 days ago was not a Western Union teletype machine and that it was not being held as evidence."

In asking that the suit be dismissed, Mr. Robinson said he wanted to "make it clear that the machine given about 20 days ago was not a Western Union teletype machine and that it was not being held as evidence."

NORSE SNIPERS BEHIND LINES HARASS NAZIS

Guerrilla Fighting Hampers Germans in 3-Front Struggle with Allied Forces.

By The Associated Press
STOCKHOLM, April 24 — Outbreaks of guerrilla fighting around Oslo were reported today to be handicapping the German invaders of Norway behind the lines while Nazi shock troops were locked in a death struggle with British, French and Norwegian regulars on three major fronts.

Swedish newspaper correspondents said the rate of machine-gun fire had been heard frequently in Oslo suburbs in the last few days as Norwegian irregulars, defying an edict providing the death penalty for possession of weapons, harassed the Germans with hit-and-run tactics.

Sea Battle Reported

The principal topic of conversation in Sweden, meanwhile, was furnished by mounting evidence that a naval engagement—possibly of major proportions—had been fought yesterday in the Skagerrak.

The outcome of the action was clouded by conflicting reports, but Swedish fleets speculated that the British fleet had made a determined effort in close the sea route by which Germany has been pouring reinforcements into Norway.

Determined to avoid involvement in the war raging at her very doorstep, Sweden continued active steps to prevent infiltration on her neutral status. Five German minesweepers, reported active in Swedish waters in the Skagerrak, were summarily asked to leave—and complied immediately.

While Allied land forces were reported continuing their attempts to pinch off the German-occupied ports of Trondheim and Narvik, the bitterest fighting appeared today to be raging in the vicinity of Lillehammer and Rena, some 80 miles north of Oslo.

Stakes to Oslo

The two towns are strategically important because they are situated at the southern entrances to the parallel Gudbrandsdal and Osterdal valleys, gateways for attack on Oslo from the north.

Lillehammer also is important because it is on the railway running northwest to the British debarcation port of Andalsnes, while Rena, 30 miles east, is on the line connecting with Trondheim.

The Norwegians, reinforced by British troops, were reported to be putting up stiff resistance at both points.

Both Norwegians and Germans were reported to be making extensive use of ski troops in the fighting around Rena. The Stockholm newspaper Tidningen said that one German detachment of 400 men, executing a swift flanking movement, attacked the Norwegians from the rear, only to be virtually annihilated by machine-gun fire.

A communication issued last night by Norwegian military headquarters said that "the Norwegians are being equipped with arms by the Allied powers."

GERMANS REPORTED ADVANCING FORCES FROM BALTIC PORTS

French Claim Troop Ships Sailing; Allies Draft Counter-Action; British Raid Five Air Bases.

By The Associated Press
GROWING fears of a German invasion of Sweden were expressed today in Paris, where German troops with munitions were reported officially to be embarking at German Baltic ports opposite Sweden.

A French war ministry spokesman issued the statement and called the embarkations "evident menace" to Sweden.

He said the Germans were leaving harbors far east of the routes for transports to Norway and were accompanied by ice-breakers—evidence, he said, that the fleet was pointed towards operations farther north in the Baltic, still clogged with winter ice floes.

The Allied supreme war council, meeting in Paris yesterday, drafted plans to counteract any German invasion of Sweden. French Premier Paul Reynaud has called his cabinet to put into effect the council's new plans.

DNB, official German news agency, meanwhile, listed 37 British naval units as having been put out of action—29 by sinking or fire—since the beginning of the Scandinavian campaign.

This was in answer to official figures in London acknowledging British losses of only 18 warships, including submarines, for the whole war so far.

The British government informed the house of commons it had invited Soviet Russia to put forward concrete proposals for a trade agreement recognizing Britain's paramount objective of encircling Germany.

British Prime Minister Chamberlain made no war report to the house of commons, confining himself to an announcement that the ministry of information would resume the functions of the press and censorship bureau.

Nazis Claim Success

German authorities announced that all southern Norway between Oslo and Stavanger was under control of the German army and that the reich's air and sea forces had taken heavy toll of the British navy in the Norwegian campaign.

The high command reported that three British planes had been shot down southwest of Stavanger in an attempt to bomb that port 200 miles southwest of Oslo.

German reconnaissance planes, the high command said, had discovered large units of the British fleet approaching Narvik, Norway's far northern port, apparently planning more extensive troop landings in that area.

Austrian Alpine troops were reported ready to fight them.

Great Britain announced today that her bombing planes had attacked five German air bases regarded as "available to the enemy for use in the invasion of Norway."

The British bombers, said an air ministry announcement, attacked and sank the big air base on the North Sea island of Blyth and sank two patrol vessels in the vicinity, and also attacked German air bases at Hamburg, Bremen and Cologne.

George E. Planck Named Rotary Club President

Other Officers Chosen and Installation Set for July 1; Columbus Man Speaks on Youth Problems.

Officers of the Marion Rotary Club, headed by George E. Planck, were elected at the club's weekly meeting at Hotel Harding, other officers named included: John K. Barttram, Dr. D. W. Brickley Jr., Mr. Planck, Grover C. Snyder, Howard Swink, Wilson B. Tway and Dr. Floyd Yeager. John J. Stafford, as retiring president, automatically becomes a member of the new board.

Mr. Planck and the other new officers will take over their duties July 1, the date of the beginning of the Rotary year.

Mr. Planck, who lives at 336 Lafayette street, is manager of the Palace theater, a position he has held for several years.

Columbus Man Talks

Another highlight of yesterday's meeting was a talk by R. C. Dickinson of Columbus, area secretary of the Y.M.C.A., who discussed "Modern Youth."

Conditions during the last two decades have undergone radical changes, Mr. Dickinson said, with the result that there is great uncertainty. Formerly youth could get a job fairly easily and did not have to postpone marriage and a family.

"We live in an unstable period, but it is a challenging time," the speaker said. "We are facing a great new era. We are making a vastly different world in which world-shaking events are taking place."

He estimates that in the last 20 years more changes have occurred than in the last 1,000 years. He pointed to the great World War, to the "spree" in the 20's, prosperity, then the depression and political changes all over the world with the result that today there are 60 per cent fewer democracies than there were before and after the last war.

The world has speeded up with elaborate machinery, high-powered business, all of which bring people closer together.

Problems of Youth

Youth faces these problems, the speaker declared:

1. Education, what kind and for what purpose.
2. Vocational guidance and choice. One out of three youths from the ages of 18 to 25 has never had a real job.
3. Use of leisure time.
4. Problems of citizenship.
5. Problems of health.

Problems of marriage. Because of economic conditions many marriages are being postponed and this has attendant evils.

Youth needs a philosophy or a religion.

Mr. Dickinson told how the Y. M. C. A. is entering on these problems in the age group of 18 to 25, but is not neglecting its work with boys and men.

"One of the great needs of the Marion Y," he said, "is better equipment, new equipment to meet the needs of our youth."

Cities Modern Needs

Even though the Y has had a wonderful past, it is not enough. It must meet the demands of today. He regarded the most important task of the Y and of the community as a whole as development of character—Christian character.

The speaker was introduced by Earl N. Hale, executive secretary of the Marion Y.

Wilson B. Tway led group singing. A guest yesterday was George King, a guest of Roland Leeper.

TAFT CLAIMS LEAD IN RACE

Says He'll Enter G. O. P. Convention with More Strength Than Dewey.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 24.—Despite Thomas E. Dewey's lead in primary-picked delegates, Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio said today that he expected to enter the Republican national convention with more votes than the New York district attorney.

Taft did not mention a specific figure in talking to reporters, but his managers have estimated that he would have between 300 and 370 of the 1,000 delegates when the convention opens.

His strength will be largely in uncommitted southern groups, 52 from the forthcoming Ohio primary, and an expected block from some of Ohio's neighboring states.

The selection of Pennsylvania Republican and Democratic delegations with 72 votes did not formally affect the political picture, for the two groups were not pledged.

The Republicans have picked 411 of their 1,000 delegates; the Democrats 328 of their 1,084. Six more Republican delegates were to be selected today at a Delaware convention.

President Roosevelt's lead in delegate strength, including those pledged and claimed for him as a result of unbinding primaries, was raised to 275 as a result of the Pennsylvania voting. The Chief Executive was unopposed in the Democratic preference balloting. Even though the 72 delegates elected were not bound by that vote, they are regarded by new deal leaders as the President's for the asking.

Pennsylvania's Republican convention votes may go to Gov. Arthur H. James on the first ballot, party leaders here said. No candidate had entered the preferential primary.

In next month's primaries Dewey is expected to pick up 18 delegates in Maryland and 32 in New Jersey. He is unopposed in both states.

DAVEY SCHEDULED FOR 16 CAMPAIGN SPEECHES

By The Associated Press

KENT, O., April 24.—Former Gov. Davey scheduled 16 speeches today in his campaign for a third term as governor. Davey has six Democratic opponents in the May 14 primary.

Davey said he would open his drive with an address in the Veterans of Foreign Wars club at Canton Friday night, appearing at the Elvira Elks club the following night and at the lodge's state convention in Akron Sunday.

His tentative schedule from then on lists New Philadelphia, April 20; Bridgeport, April 30; Zanesville, May 1; Portsmouth, May 2; Hamilton, May 3; Columbus, May 4; Lima, May 5; Chillicothe, May 7; Sidney, May 8; Defiance, May 9; Fremont, May 10; Youngstown, May 11, and Akron May 13 at a wind-up rally for Summit and neighboring counties.

TRUCKERS AT DISTRICT MEETING IN MARION

Fifty-seven truck owners and operators from Marion and vicinity attended a meeting in the Marion club rooms at Hotel Harding Monday night at which various phases of tire maintenance were discussed by representatives of the General Tire & Rubber Co.

The meeting was in charge of Dallas Harruff, manager of the Harruff tire store on South Main street, which sponsored the meeting. Mr. Harruff spoke briefly and introduced the other speakers, Charles Hovens and David Coban, both of Akron, and Paul Smith of Mansfield. Motion pictures were shown. Refreshments were served.

PROPAGANDA HIT BY O. W. U. PRESIDENT

Students Told To Be on Alert; Clear Thinking Urged.

Special to The Star

DELAWARE, O., April 24.—With America closer to war than at any time since 1918, Ohio Wesleyan university students should be increasingly alert to propaganda that may draw this nation into the conflict, they were told in chapel service yesterday by Dr. Herbert J. Burgess, president of the university.

"It may be that we as a college ought to develop an anti-propaganda movement," Dr. Burgess said. "At least, we ought to resolve to read everything we can about the war and to hear radio programs that deal with the war. If we listen to everything we can we will be better able to null down the arguments and to form our own opinions more clearly."

Only those young people whose minds are clear, whose personalities are in accord with the teachings of Christ and who have the right attitude toward people will be the ones who will become the great leaders of tomorrow, the president said, pointing out that the educated youth of today are the ones who must tackle the problems that will result from the present war, regardless of whether the United States becomes involved.

RULING TO BE APPEALED

By The Associated Press
CINCINNATI, April 23.—A notice of appeal by the wage-hour division from dismissal of an injunction suit against the Cincinnati Union Terminal Co. is on file today in the U. S. district court. The division, charging porters of "red caps" were not paid a legal minimum wage, sought to restrain the company from alleged violation of the fair labor standards act. After the suit was filed, the company started a new payment plan which it said guaranteed the minimum wage.

Marion Couple Gets Letter from Nazi
Sailor Interned at Florida Port

A Marion couple, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Hughes, helped to break the monotony of indefinite waiting for one of the crew of the German electric ship, Arauca, which has been in internment at Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., since December when it sought the cover of the U. S. port in a brush with a British warship.

Mr. and Mrs. Hughes, on a recent vacation trip to Florida, visited Port Everglades where the German ship will remain, with her crew on board, until the war ends. They talked to several of the crew, took a picture of two of them, and mailed copies of the photograph to the boys later. This week they received a letter from Fritz Gursky, one of the two youths photographed.

Excerpts from the letter follow: "With much joy I got your letter and the beautiful pictures. We say many, many thanks for your kindness, to have sent us these wonderful photographs. I hope that after this war—I think it will be over now very soon—I have an occasion to visit you and your home. You don't have to think that your German friends can forget you. It is our luck that we are here in this country, that this people in America was and is very good to our population. Your pictures are a fine souvenir from Miami and Florida."

"When the war will be over and we go back to Germany, then I will write you that, and you can believe me, that after this war many German ships come over to here, more than before the war. "What do you say, that Germany came 10 hours before England up to Norway? In the last six days England has lost 38 battleships and 24 airplanes. That says yesterday the German radio. "Once more I say many thanks because of your friendliness and benevolence."

"Thousand greetings for you and your wife. Gursky is a third class engineer on the all-electric ship, which was on its maiden voyage at the time it was chased into Ft. Lauderdale. He told Mr. and Mrs. Hughes he had managed to pick up the English language in the few months since he had been in Ft. Lauderdale, or at least enough of it to be able to carry on a conversation and express his thoughts in writing. He said his life on the ship involved only four hours of work a day, leaving plenty of time for recreation and study."

In a postscript, he gave his German address as follows: "Ship-Engineer, Brillen-Str. 1-W, Altenburenstr., Germany."

Job Opportunities For Graduates To Be Studied

Security Office Here To Join in State Survey of Opportunities for High School, College Grads.

An occupational outlook survey to determine employment opportunities in the Marion area for 1940 high school and college graduates will be completed by Saturday by field service representatives of the Marion Employment Security Center, Fred B. Scherff, announced today.

The local survey is a part of a statewide study being made by the employment service division of the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation through the 47 principal Employment Security Centers operated by the bureau.

Three standardized questionnaires will be used by the field service representatives, who will call on employers, civic leaders, trade union officials and public officials, Mr. Scherff said. One will give immediate job prospects for high school graduates, one the immediate job prospects for college graduates and the third, job prospects for trained youths from 1942 to 1945.

Immediate Job Prospects
Immediate job prospects for both high school and college graduates will be classified as to men and women, steady demand, frequent requests, and scattered requests. The six leading occupations in these categories will be listed in the survey.

Most favorable employment opportunities two to five years from now for youths who graduate from high school and take additional specialized training will be classified as to sex, most promising prospects, favorable and fair prospects.

The data obtained will be sent to the administrative office of the bureau in Columbus, where it will be combined with similar information obtained from all other Employment Security Centers in the state.

Issue State Report

A statewide report on the survey will be issued by the employment service division as soon as possible after May 1, according to information given Mr. Scherff. It will be made available to par-

Marriage Meddlers

Scanning Maps, Spencer Declines the Secret Entrance to House Must Be in Attic Chimney.

LILLIAN and I did not quite fulfill my pledge to Dicky. But we made creditable time at that, considering that the desk in Lillian's room had a defective lock and we had to find another secure hiding place for the papers and maps we had brought from Miss Carman's of the attic, which Lillian insisted upon stowing away with them.

Dicky rose to greet us when we neared the dinner table, and Katie fairly hovered over us in ecstatic interest over our "de-lec-a-luff stuff." She even made no complaint of the way we hurried through her delicious dinner, evidently willing to lay her culinary skill upon the altar of sacrifice in her reverence for the big role she believed us to be playing.

Frightened Household
"Where are all the others?" I asked Dicky when he, Lillian and I were on our way upstairs again. For we had seen no member of the family in evidence since our return.

"Cover-r-r-ring in their respective rooms," Dicky answered with a grin. "Dad told me to put the fear of God into 'em, and I did, all but Katrina. She refused to be cowed, said she'd keep the kids inside under lock and key, and that she'd have to look after Eddy because Miss Whitlock was busy with Dad. But I guess Eddy is still sleeping her fool head off, so Katrina's incommunicado, too."

"You sure did a good job, Dickybird," Lillian commended. "We try to give our best to our public," Dicky declined, and then we were at my father's door, and Miss Whitlock's voice was saying "Come in."

A fire was burning brightly in the grate, and a fairly large table was drawn up near it, with four chairs around it, in one of which my father sat. There was no trace of his dinner tray—the table was clear—but I knew from Nurse Whitlock's approving expression that her patient had eaten a satisfactory meal.

Ready for Examination
"If you're ready," my father said briskly when we neared the table, "suppose we get to work." I looked up the papers, Father. "I said, 'when we went down to dinner, but I won't be a second getting them.'"

"My fault, Dad," I heard Dicky say as I hurried out of the door. "I rushed them up here so fast they had no time to think of papers."

Once clear of the room, I rushed down the hall to Lillian's room, relieved Miss Carman's maps and files and our own map of the attic from their hiding place and was back so quickly that my father looked at me with anxiety and disapproval.

"You're been running!" he said accusingly.

"Guilty as charged, your Honor," I answered smiling, "but I think you'll find that these are worth a race."

I opened the bundles and spread out the maps and files before him, pulling up the map of the attic, stairs and tunnel from our own attic, and the rough map of the inside of the attic which Lillian and I had made just before we left for Miss Carman's home. My father bent over them closely, tracing the lines with experienced fingers, while we watched him with intent interest.

"If these lines and your computations are correct," he said at last with a composure that I guessed was forced, "this entrance to the stairs and tunnel must be in the chimney breast on the west side of the old attic."

Before my mind's eye rose a picture of that big old chimney made of stout brick that had stood for two centuries. Where in that massive structure, apparently an impenetrable surface, could there be a secret door? Yet, one there must be.

I voiced my thought feebly, but Lillian cut me short.

"There's just one way to settle that, Chief," she said with sparkling eyes, "and that is to go up in the attic and find out!"

YOUR HEALTH

Diabetic Cure

Is diabetes ever cured?

Diabetes can be kept under control so that it gives practically no disagreeable symptoms, but cases of cure are rare. By cure I mean that the patient can eat whatever he likes with no insulin, and has no sugar in the urine.

A patient reported by Dr. Elliot Joslin developed diabetes at the age of two. At first she was a severe diabetic, requiring 30 to 40 units of insulin a day, as well as a carefully-regulated diet. She continued this way until her first year in college. Then the insulin requirement dropped off; in her junior year she needed only five units, and in her senior year none at all. She is now 22 years old.

Another type is a man, 65 years old, who had diabetes for six years. He was a mild type and required only 15 units of insulin a day. Then he had a gall-bladder operation and the diabetes steadily improved. Now he eats what he likes, takes no insulin and shows no sign of diabetes.

The explanation is that the cause of diabetes is an atrophy of the secretory cells of the pancreas which manufacture insulin. But with this atrophy there goes a tendency for the cells to regenerate in the course of time and start functioning again. There is, therefore, no inherent reason why diabetes should not tend toward recovery, if the cells are rested by the artificial supply of insulin, and with improvement in treatment patients will live longer and cases of cure increase.

What is the modern treatment of epilepsy?

Epilepsy is due to an irritation of the motor section of the brain. If this is caused by skull injury or irritation from a tumor, the irritation can be removed by surgical treatment. Scars and areas of pressure and adhesion can be improved in this way. Most cases of epilepsy, however, are not of this kind. The three methods of treatment of the functional form of epilepsy are: (1) diet and fluid restriction; (2) adherence to diet and fluid restriction will control most cases. The depressant medicines used include the bromides and barbiturates. They act by depressing the irritable motor cortex of the brain.

Under the auspices of the Harvard Epilepsy Commission, cases treated with a new compound have been reported. It is not a sedative nor a soporific; hence the patient is much clearer and more alert mentally than when the barbiturates are used. It was carefully tested on laboratory animals before its use in human beings and its ability to stop convulsions was proved beforehand. In favorable cases it reduces the number of convulsions; in one case the patient going a year with only one attack.

Ohio Riflemen To Shoot At Fort Hayes Saturday

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., April 24—At least 50 five-man groups. The Medina rifle club won the Class A title and the National Guard trophy in 1939, with the Richmond Gasco squad of Mansfield taking Class B laurels, and the Cincinnati Rifle club finishing out front in Class C.

Entered in Saturday's league match are the Summit county, Cleveland, Central Ohio, Western, Southwestern, Eastern, Crawford county, Northwestern, and North Central circuits.

A prone, metallic eight match, in which the junior Columbus club defeated 13 senior squads, completes the team events, but Ohio all-star 10-man groups will fire telegraphic matches against California and Wyoming.

Sam Bond, winner of the state outdoor championship last summer, will receive the Dr. Matthew E. McManus trophy Sunday, the presentation being made by E. N. Littleton of Bowling Green, president of the Ohio Rifle and Pistol association.

In the skeet tournament next month the defending champions are O. Lee Harrison of Dayton and Mrs. M. L. Smythe of Aurora, who copped the feminine crown the last two seasons. W. G. Mouch, president of the Columbus Gun club, said he expected more than 150 shooters to compete on the four championship fields.

OLD STYLE START SET IN BLUE GRASS STAKES

By The Associated Press
LEXINGTON, Ky., April 24—The most question whether the new Bahr electric starting gate would be used in the Kentucky Derby was believed by some horsemen today to have been answered by these developments:

1. Announcement by Hal Price, head of the Kentucky Derby association, that the field in the Blue Grass stakes, a Derby prep, would be started tomorrow from the new Bahr gate, but that the doors would be left open and the old bell starting signal method used. (The bell signal is used in the Derby).

2. Disclosure that William Hurley, trainer of Bimelech, Derby winterbook favorite and likely starter in the Blue Grass, had asked Kentucky authorities to use the old method of starting.

3. The concern, also known as the Perfection Burial Vault Co., was held to have engaged in unfair labor practices as charged in 1938 by the A.F.L.-International Association of Machinists, the board's regional office reported.

The board concluded the company contributed to the association's support and interfered with administration of its affairs.

The Stars Say—

For Thursday, April 25
 AN IMPORTANT day, with large and expansive forces combining to make for success in major objectives, with the promise of rich returns for meritorious propositions and sound ambitions, is forecast. This may attract hearty support from influential persons or those of ample capital for promotion. But these must be approached with tact and sagacity, since there is a menace from impulsivity, rash or excitable tactics. There also are signs of craft, duplicity or other sinister complications. Beware of extravagance and overindulgence.
 Those whose birthday it is may look for a very progressive and expensive year, with things moving toward high goals of achievement and satisfaction, especially in launching new and ambitious projects. But use tact and restraint when approaching superiors or influential persons for financial support. Avoid, subtle pitfalls, snares or treacheries, and refrain from rash, impulsive and extravagant behavior, in social as well as business contacts.

 A child born on this day may be efficient, ambitious and clever, but also may have impulsive, vindictive or tempestuous moods to its detriment. Its good nature, friendliness and generosity should enhance its prestige and popularity if prudently managed.
